Description

Elephant Circle, a birth justice organization, offers expertise in the perinatal period and the legal and health systems issues impacting this period. They are looking for Tennessee-based litigators who can represent their client in a suit against medical providers regarding the death of his wife and unborn child at 19 weeks of pregnancy due to racist and sexist medical neglect. The client has filed a discrimination complaint with the Office of Civil Rights at the Dept of Health and Human Services, alleging sex-based and race-based discrimination against the hospital. This complaint is currently under investigation.

The client would like to file suit against the hospital. The defendants have been served with the necessary pre-suit notice.

The extended statute of limitations will toll on August 8 of this year.
