

Racism in Immigration Law: Chapter 4 - Discriminatory Treatment of Undocumented Immigrants of Color

< LFAA RESOURCES < PUBLICATIONS & RESEARCH

Publications & Research

27 Apr 2022

This report provides an overview of how the undocumented population is subject to immigration laws and other limitations as a consequence of their status that limit their ability to work and receive commonplace benefits that would dramatically improve their lives, and face the threat of being forced to leave the United States and lives they have established here. This chapter proposes solutions to lessen this population's vulnerability by taking steps to secure their ability to live, work, and thrive in the United States.

---

LFAA is not a law firm and does not provide legal services or referrals. The contents of this resource do not constitute legal advice and the user of this resource agrees that no attorney-client relationship is being formed between the user and any person or entity, including LFAA and the lawyers or law firms that drafted the resource. LFAA makes no representation regarding the accuracy of any information included in this resource.

Attachments

Discriminatory Treatment of Undocumented Immigrants of Color

Contacts

Nareneh Sohbatian

Harvey Reiter

Working Groups

Immigration

LFAA is not a law firm and does not provide legal services or referrals to individuals, legal services organizations or public interest agencies. If you believe you need a lawyer, please contact your local bar association or go to www.lawhelp.org.

© 2026 Law Firm Antiracism Alliance. All Rights Reserved